Project Information

DSAIN

Distributed Sovereign AI Infrastructure Nodes Technology

DSAIN is a concept development initiative focused on the planning, development and future operation of distributed sovereign AI infrastructure for Germany and Europe.

The project explores the creation of environmentally friendly AI infrastructure nodes, Community Compute Federation ecosystems and Reverse Co-Hosting participation models designed to strengthen digital sovereignty, infrastructure resilience and public participation in artificial intelligence.

Official Slogan:

“Reverse co-hosting is the future of Germany’s independent AI – a future in which everyone can participate.”

At the current stage of project development, DSAINT operates as a concept development initiative and not as a registered commercial entity.

Should DSAINT establish a registered legal entity in the future, this legal notice will be updated accordingly.

Sovereign AI Infrastructure Statement

DSAINTE seeks to develop and operate AI infrastructure according to German and European legal, security and governance principles wherever technically and economically feasible.

The project promotes:

- Digital Sovereignty
- Infrastructure Resilience
- Security by Design
- Sustainable Development
- Responsible Innovation
- Community Participation

References to sovereignty represent strategic objectives and do not imply governmental affiliation, endorsement or certification.

Community Compute Federation Notice

The DSAINT website may describe:

- Community Compute Federation concepts
- Reverse Co-Hosting initiatives
- Citizen AI Nodes
- Distributed computing ecosystems

Such descriptions are informational and conceptual in nature.

Participation in future DSAINT programs may require separate agreements, policies, technical requirements and operational procedures.

Nothing contained on this website creates a right to participate in future programs.
